

RECAP

- “Lifelong learning, like anything else worthwhile, is a treasure come by through diligent seeking. You must never take your calling for granted, any more than you can ever take your marriage or your parental responsibilities for granted. Each requires a lifetime of investment of all that you are. And when you make that discovery, the rewards are limitless.”

DISCUSSION STARTERS

- Read Jeremiah 1:4-5. Discuss the importance of you discovering God’s unique purpose for your life.
- The author strongly states, “I believe there are critical tasks in life that if divinely called individuals fail to complete them, they will not be done.” Do you agree? If so, does this thought affirm you or motivate you to personal steps in a new direction?
- Share your thoughts on the value of adequate training, education and experience as it relates to fulfilling God’s plan for your life.
- What daily habits contribute to your commitment to be a ‘lifelong learner’?
- Discuss the role of mentors in your pursuit of lifelong learning.
