

RECAP

- “It would be a shame to spend the better part of a lifetime raising your family and paying your bills only to arrive at this point in life’s game and set all the wrong priorities. This is not the time to warm a bench or get up and leave in the middle of the game. The best is yet to come.”

DISCUSSION STARTERS

- To the younger: What can I do now to prepare myself to be Kingdom-effective for a lifetime?
- To the middle-aged: What can I do now that will have me excited about my later years rather than dreading them?
- To the older: What can I do in Christian service now better than I ever have?
- Discuss the author’s “three factors that give added value to life’s later innings.”
  - *Accumulation of wisdom.
  - *Accumulation of resources.
  - *Accumulation of influence.
- What have you learned from those that have gone before you that ‘checked out’ before the game was over? And those that have lived life’s adventures to the very end?
